

EMPLOYEE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM
JUL. 2017

Multigenerational workplaces allow employees the opportunity to learn skills specific to a variety of age groups. Younger employees may be more adept at using technology, while older workers have a better grasp on traditions and company history. Mixing older and younger people provides opportunities for both to mentor each other and contribute to an organization's success. Your Employee Assistance Program can help with resources and information on how to thrive in a multigenerational workplace.
